There is one thing we confess we should like to see the Logislature of Kentucky do with somewhat greater distinctness and completeness than it has yet done. We should like to see the Legislature at Frankfort provide as eft ctually as precticable for the not impossible failure of the Border State Convention of W . hington. The great and holy work of national reconciliation mut not be allowed to hreak down with the defeat of the first trial, if, unhappily, the first trial should be defeated; and yet, in this event, unless Kentucky holds herself in readiness to put forth unusual cfforts to sarry forward the work, we may be forced to apprehend the worst. Unquestiouably the enemies of the country, hoth North and South, stand prepared to make the most of the contingency, if it should ocenr. Shall we lenve a stone unturned that may serve to frustrate their wicked designs? Shall we omit to ried out by South Carolina before many days do unything we can do to promoto tho salva-
